March 1 - April 30, 2017

Please join us for a

Reception & Interactive Workshop

in which you will be invited to explore the rich connection between image and the written word in ekphrastic poems (poems written about works of art.)

Sunday, March 5, 2017, 3 P.M. - 5 P.M.

Leslie has always been drawn to faces and the human form. Though unschooled, she began to create visual art in the expressive arts tradition. It has been a way to honor the memory of her sister, who was a Professor of Art Therapy, as well as cope with her own cancer journey. She enjoys the interplay between writing and collage.

ARTIST: Finding inspiration and solace through creative expression, Leslie's artwork gives voice to her experiences as a woman, daughter, wife, mother, patient and survivor.

AUTHOR: The close encounter with the shimmering soul of poet and visual artist Leslie Neustadt will leave each fortunate reader with the taste of honey soaked challah in their mouths...

SPEAKER: An accomplished and sought after speaker, Leslie weaves poetry and art into her speeches about living with cancer and chronic illness, and other life topics.
